Domestic Animal Vaccination
Adopted Village, May 29, 2022

On May 29, 2022, a domestic animal vaccination campaign was conducted in the adopted village Goshaigaon Manipuri Basti,organized by IQAC, Udali College, Bamungaon. The purpose of this campaign was to ensure the health and well-being of the animals in the village by providing them with necessary vaccinations and medication. This report aims to summarize the activities carried out during the campaign and provide an overview of the results achieved.

The vaccination campaign began at 9:00 am and lasted till 4:00 pm. Dr. Junti Kakati along with his team of veterinarians and volunteers set up a temporary clinic in the village square, where they administered vaccinations to domestic animals such as dogs, cats, and livestock. The team also provided information and guidance to the villagers on the importance of regular vaccinations for their pets and livestock.

A total of 30 domestic animals were vaccinated during the campaign. The team ensured that each animal received the appropriate vaccinations based on their age and health condition. Additionally, the team distributed pamphlets and brochures to the villagers, educating them about the benefits of vaccination and how to identify common diseases in animals.

While the campaign was successful overall, there were a few challenges that the team encountered. Firstly, some villagers were initially hesitant to bring their animals for vaccination due to misconceptions and lack of awareness. However, through effective communication and education, the team was able to convince them of the importance of vaccination. Secondly, the team faced logistical issues in terms of limited resources and space. Despite these challenges, the team managed to overcome them and provide vaccinations to a significant number of animals.

The domestic animal vaccination campaign in the adopted village was a success. The team's efforts in educating and vaccinating the animals have contributed to the overall health and well-being of the village's domestic animals. It is recommended that similar campaigns be conducted periodically to ensure the continued health of the animals and to raise awareness among the villagers about the importance of vaccination.

Devasree Sharma, Asstt Professor, Geography delivering speech

Again an outstanding speech also delivered by a faculty member Devasree Sharma, Geography on the topic of the effects of CARBONDI-OXIDE ,GREENHOUSE EFFECTS and CLIMATE CHANGING and discussing the issues related to Environment with audiences and also trying to make them aware about the upcoming devastating situations of Environment. She also described the causes and consequences of Greenhouse effect saying that Carbon dioxide is one of the examples of heat-trapping gases, including methane, nitrous oxide and water vapor and in balanced proportions, these gases act as a blanket that keeps the earth's surface warm. She also said "But at elevated levels, especially of carbon dioxide, it accumulates in the atmosphere, becoming a thick blanket, trapping radiation and heat energy from the sun;It overheats the earth as less heat energy escapes into space;This effect of elevated carbon dioxide levels in the atmosphere affects the environment by melting ice caps, thereby increasing ocean water levels resulting in the loss of coastal wetlands and shoreline.Elevated levels of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere cause it to dissolve in water vapor and form carbonic acid. Which is rained down as acid rain. Acid rain causes some physical damage to plants and pollutes both soil and water. And all these are responsible for CLIMATE CHANGES. ``.At the end she also said that if we don't aware of all these things the future generations will face terrible situations and also suggests some ways to protect the Biodiversity and the environment.
